

NEARING A CLOSE.

Verdict Will Probably Be Returned Tonight

AND TIMES WILL FACE HIS FATE.

Underburn in the Progress of the case. A speedy conclusion—Judge says that all testimony relating to the murdered Pictzel Children—No chance in Holmes' demeanor.

COLUMBIA, Nov. 2.—Tonight the case probably know whether or not the trial will hang. Incidentally, the case is not now a part of the case, but a mere shrunken figure with a few legs and all men's enmity, which is itself known.

When the trial began last Monday morning, it was anticipated a siege of at least two weeks, but Thursday the case took a sudden turn and yesterday afternoon will help to push it to swift conclusion. The decision of Judge Arnold's testimony would be admitted, and that bearing directly on the question of keeping out a group of negroes from the case, and the case was closed. The offering in evidence of the bones of Howard Pictzel, the boy in which he was buried, the clothes the little fellow wore when he had a ride to put inside them, the toys he played with, and the trunk which contained the lives of the girls, Alice and Nellie.

District Attorney Graham fought as hard as he knew how to get this evidence in, but the law was against him and the defense scored its first and probably its last victory. When he had himself bested, he said he would close his case in the morning, and he kept his word.

"That is our case," had scarcely fallen from the lips of the commonwealth's prosecutor before counsel for the defense had calmly risen and made what many persons characterized as "a bold bid," and many more as "playing the last card." They confidently told the court that the commonwealth had made out its case, and asked Judge Arnold to tell the jury so and wind up the trial then and there.

District Attorney Graham smiled at the statement and said this was too absurd to answer, but Judge Arnold expressed his opinion other than that the case would have to proceed.

Then counsel made the astonishing statement that they wanted time to find out what the defense was going to be, because they had been so busy listening to the evidence against them they had not had a chance to prepare an answer to it. The court finally suspended business and gave the attorneys an hour's talk with Holmes. This over they came back to court and pleaded everybody by declaring that they would call no witnesses, but submit the case on argument alone. This was begun this morning and the lawyers said it would end before the day was over.

There was a change in Holmes' demeanor, although a keen observer might have perceived a deeper pallor on his cheeks and in his blue eyes the subdued glare of a wild beast tracked to earth at last.

RAILROAD STRIKE IMMINENT.
Great Northern May Be Tied Up by American Railway Union.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 2.—For some days past a special committee appointed by the American Railway union delegates to the Devil's Lake convention one week ago have been in the city seeking a conference with President Hill of the Great Northern railway in regard to an alleged breaking of his agreement with them after the great strike on that system in May, 1894. They made repeated attempts to see Mr. Hill, but without success, and finally late last night, yesterday having been the limit set them by the government, they issued a long statement giving their grievances and the correspondence they had had in their attempt to confer with President Hill. They announced that in view of the treatment the employees have received, and the refusal of the management to redress their grievances, they have left last night for their homes, and the public need not be surprised that the Great Northern's railway is as tight as a drum from St. Paul to the coast.

LIKE A HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Was Friday's Meeting of the Constitutional Convention.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 2.—The session of the constitutional convention today was like a meeting of a historical society. Nearly all the old records of negro government were thrust over. One interesting feature was brought out in the discussion of political affairs in 1865 when the Democrats got possession of the state. It was that prominent state officials had entered into an agreement with President Hayes not to prosecute the dishonest Republican officials, white and black, on condition that South Carolina citizens imprisoned at Albany and elsewhere for violation of the federal election laws should be pardoned. G. D. Tillman was a party to the agreement and he stated that it was faithfully carried out by both parties.

TILLMAN'S SUFFRAGE PLAN

Ordered to Its Third Reading by a Vote of 69 to 37.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 2.—After five days of debate, Senator Tillman's suffrage plan was ordered to its third reading last night by a vote of 69 to 37. A great many members were absent on business or otherwise, but as they were paired the result would not have been changed. There were no sensational incidents, but nearly every member took occasion to explain his vote before the ballot was taken. It has been a foregone conclusion for two days that Tillman was going to win, for every amendment to his plan was promptly voted down.

He has cabled the state departments that the Kurds and Armenians who committed the murder are to be tried at Erzeroum, and that the United States will be represented at the trial by the British consul at that place. This official was the first person to learn of Lenz's murder, and as there was no American consul in that vicinity, he actively interested himself in the case and reported the results of his investigation to Mr. Terrell.

DURRANT'S DOOM.

Convicted of the Murder of Blanche Lamont.

VERDICT ON THE FIRST BALLOT

With No Recommendation of Mercy. Prisoner's Mother Completely Overcome by the Terrible Strain of the Long Trial. On His Way to Jail the Doomed Man Exhales Little Concern.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Theodore Durrant, assistant superintendent of Emmanuel Baptist church Sunday school, was yesterday convicted of the murder of Blanche Lamont, after he had been on trial since July 22 last. The jury was out 20 minutes and arrived at the verdict on the first ballot. As there was no recommendation of mercy, the punishment was fixed at death.

The scene in the courtroom when the verdict was announced will never be forgotten by those who were present. Judge Murphy finished his charge at 3:30 and the jury retired. Mrs. Durrant and the prisoner talked and laughed together as if an acquittal was a foregone conclusion. They were surrounded by a half dozen friends, and the conversation was animated when it became whispered about that the jury had agreed upon a verdict.

In an instant a hush fell upon the little circle that had gathered around the prisoner. Durrant's face, always pallid, assumed a ghastly hue, and his mother was speechless. Then the door at the rear of the room opened and the jury filed in and took their seats in the box. Intense excitement followed. The room, although filled to its utmost capacity, was almost as quiet as it had been vacant. Judge Murphy, who had retired to his chambers, was summoned and took his place upon the bench. Clerk Morris asked the usual questions as to whether the jury had agreed upon a verdict. Foreman Warren Dutton arose and replied in the affirmative.

"We, the jury," said he, "find the defendant, William Henry Theodore Durrant, guilty of murder in the first degree."

As the last words of the verdict were uttered, Durrant made a spasmodic effort to arise to his feet, but before he could do so his mother, with a half sigh, half moan, threw her arms around his neck and sank back into his chair. His mother's groan seemed to make Durrant forget his own position, and for the next few minutes he sat with his arms around her neck, trying to soothe her. The long strain of the trial, however, had completely shattered his self-control, and it was some time before Mrs. Durrant could leave the courtroom.

Durrant's father was not in the room when the verdict was returned, and he first learned that his son had been convicted when a cheer went up from the crowd in the building as the news spread. Durrant recovered his old-time composure as soon as he left his mother, and prepared to return to the county jail. With his overcoat swung carelessly over his arm, he walked leisurely out of the room, twirling his slight moustache with apparently as little concern as if he were a mere spectator instead of the principal figure in the exciting scene.

As soon as Durrant left the building, the crowd surged out of the room and gathered around the door out of which the prisoner usually came to reach the prison van. Fearing that some violence might be offered the prisoner, he was taken out of another door and driven by a circuitous route to the county jail.

The case will be appealed to the supreme court, and it is expected nearly a year will elapse before a decision will be obtained.

TORPEDO BOAT CUSHING

Successfully Attacks the Station Despite the Searchlights.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 2.—The torpedo boat Cushing made two successful attacks upon the torpedo station last night, getting within torpedoing distance despite the powerful searchlights on the island. At the first attack she was within range when picked up by the light, and at the expiration of the time limit, 2½ minutes, was well into the station. In the second attack she was picked up when 600 yards off, but by speeding up she managed to get within range before the time limit had expired.

MAY BE A FIGHT YET.

Brady Makes a Proposition For a Mill and Julian Accepts.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 2.—There is now a probability that the big fight will come off. The time will be within a week and the location somewhere in the state of Louisiana, the exact spot to be determined. This much was decided upon late yesterday afternoon after the trials of Corbett and Fitzsimmons had been adjourned. A conference between the managers leaves the situation thus: Brady for Corbett has made a proposition to fight; Julian for Fitzsimmons has accepted it, and if the latter's money goes up today the battle will probably come off at a place as yet in doubt.

The Maher O'Donnell and Ryan-Smith mills at Hot Springs have probably been effectually squelched by the injunction proceedings in Little Rock yesterday.

Chance For a Scrap.

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 2.—Fitzsimmons and Corbett came together here in the Capitol hotel last evening, but no serious consequences followed. Fitzsimmons was seated in the dining-room when Corbett entered. To get by the Australian Corbett had to walk within a couple of feet of him. As he passed him Corbett poked a finger at Fitzsimmons in derisive and insulting manner, at the same time muttering some unintelligible sound. Everyone expected to see a fight but Fitzsimmons was not game. He hastily looked up, flushed and Corbett walked on.

TRADE POINTERS.

Gold Exports May Soon Again Be Made.

BOTH WHEAT AND CORN LOWER.

Demand For Most Manufactured Products Is Somewhat Better—Railroads Regained Activity In Iron and Steel Products—Cotton Manufacturers Finner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: The rapid recovery in cotton and the rise in sterling exchange to the point at which the late exports of gold were made, have not increased the confidence. There is a little better demand for most manufactured products; retail distribution is fairly encouraging, and the closing of many works is less significant at this season than it might be at others. It is a time of waiting, and uncertainty may continue for some weeks. Cotton speculation turns for the moment on the disposition of holders to keep back their cotton, which may compel higher prices, however large the ultimate supply may be. Receipts at present are very small compared with last year's, and it is stated that banks here have more money loaned on cotton, to enable holders to keep it without marketing, than ever before. Exports and takings of spinners are small, and stocks abroad and here so large that consumers may be better able to wait than borrowers from banks.

Wheat has declined 13 cents and corn 2½ cents in spite of many adverse reports about winter wheat. The present large shipments from other countries, the small Atlantic exports (on five weeks only 7,802,391 bushels, flour included, against 11,724,302 last year), and the western receipts for five weeks (37,705,458 bushels against 23,000,973 last year) affect opinion more directly than ideas about next year's yield. Very large estimates of the corn crop have depressed prices, although exports have been in five weeks 12,212,821 bushels, against 4,823,845 last year, a fact which has its weight in the wheat market also. Pork and lard are not much changed, though hog receipts and packing are heavy.

The heavy wheat and corn movement helps railroads, but the earnings thus far reported for October (5.3 per cent larger than last year, the third week showing less gain than the others) are 5.4 per cent smaller than in 1892.

The larger demand for manufactured products has held prices of cotton goods and even advanced some prices in spite of last week's decline in action. The mills are said to be carrying only moderate stocks. More activity is also seen in iron and steel products, though Bessemer and grey forge billets and plates are a little lower and the average of quotations today is 2.75 per cent lower than at the highest point Sept. 17, and 1 per cent lower than in October three years ago, and there is also shuffling of quotations to secure good business. Contracts for lake ore hang fire because wheat pays $2.25 for the room on which ore would pay $1.10 from the head of the lakes. The coal combination reduced its November output to one-third its usual quantity and the rail output this year has been only about half the quantity required for renewals alone, which shows the enormous increase in the use of steel for building and other purposes. Miner metals are a shade weaker and American tin plate makers are talking a good deal of better business by selling at 10 cents below prices for foreign plate.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

Constantly Overtaxes His Strength and His Fainting Fits.

ROME, Nov. 2.—Accounts of the pope's health are highly contradictory, and the truth probably is that he constantly overtaxes his strength and thus has fainting fits, which alarm his attendants. The next consistency to be held will leave the Italians in a majority of three over the foreign cardinals on the conclave, and as there will remain only three cardinal's hats vacant, the supremacy of the Italian vote is assured over any possible combination in favor of a foreign candidate for the pontificate.

President Cleveland the Arbitrator.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The Italian Columbian arbitration is now fairly before President Cleveland, who is the arbitrator chosen by both countries. Some weeks ago Baron Tessa presented the Italian side of the case, and Thursday Cardinal Cui, representing the Columbian government, submitted the case of that government.

A report of public sale of personal property was filed by Wm. J. Gorton, administrator of the estate of Charles F. Steinfeld, deceased, in the probate court today. The report was approved.

The funeral of Ed Rayl, whose death was reported in the Star of Thursday, occurred at Woodland this morning at 10 o'clock and the remains were brought to this city to be interred in the cemetery.

The Marion Building Savings and Loan company today filed in the court of common pleas its answer and cross-petition in the case of Crissinger, guardian, against Cull, setting up a $300 mortgage.

Crow & Durbin, attorneys, of Kenton, levied on one-half of the saloon furniture of the saloon of Kirkpatrick & Lellier Friday night. The attachment was made to satisfy a claim of $230 held against Lellier.

Judge Allen Smalley spoke to the democracy of Green Camp township Friday night and a large crowd turned out to hear him. William Falk, U. K. Guthery and a number of others from this city were in attendance at the meeting.

The following are the beats that the policemen will be given during the next month: Barnhart, First ward; Hickman, Second ward; Cleveland, Third ward; Smith, Fourth ward; Clapsaddle, West Marion nights; John Munsell, West Marion days. Cleveland will go on duty at noon.

Little Clara Fisher, daughter of J. B. Fisher, of north Prospect street, entertained about sixteen of her little friends at her home Friday evening at her home, from 7:00 to 9:30 o'clock. All kinds of games which would naturally be amusing to the little ones were played and dainty refreshments served.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor held its regular monthly business session at the Presbyterian church parlors Friday evening, but no matters of any great business import were transacted. After the business meeting had been brought to a close the remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse interspersed with several musical selections.

Judged by the amount of noise made and the excitement caused the on-looker would have imagined that Hotel Marion was burning down. Friday night, about 9:15 o'clock. The excitement was caused by the burning of an ash barrel in the alleyway between the hotel and the telegraph office. The barrel ignited from some hot coals thrown into it. A bucket of water extinguished the blaze.

Charles Hersey was in police court this morning, after a night spent in one of the cells at the city prison. Charles sold his horse Friday and, having the price, started out to purchase a good time. Officer Cleveland locked him up for being drunk and disorderly. His face was skinned, his eye looked like it had been struck and he was in a pretty dispirited condition. Mayor Nichols fined him one dollar and costs, amounting all to $1.00. Charles paid the bill and left the court room, vowing never to darken the door of the prison again.

AGAIN IN DANGER.

The Hanley Building Showed Signs of Giving Way.

There were fears Friday night that the building occupied by Werley & Ochs was going to topple over, and it really did give way some. Theodore Ochs was the first to notice it, and sent for Contractor Gault at 7 o'clock in the evening. The building had given way in such manner that it was with difficulty that the door could be opened. Mr. Gault came at once and set about to make everything secure. Props were obtained and placed against the front and end sides. Mr. Gault was of the opinion that there was no apparent danger, but thought it best to take such precautions.

The Coming of Dr. Lancelley.

The bright, particular star of the Ohio Central M. E. conference was J. E. Lancelley, of Toronto, Canada. Of him the Times-Star says: "In thought, word and action Mr. Lancelley is original, eloquent, novel; the strongest combination of earnestness, humor and pathos that has ever been here." Those who were privileged to hear him will recognize the absolute truth of this short pen picture of the man and his wonderful work. He is justly termed the "Henry Ward Beecher of Canada"—a spell-binder—a Victor Hugo in his working" by the Cincinnati Enquirer.

On November 13 and 14 this great analytical student of thought and words will deliver two lectures in the Epworth M. E. church and everybody should hear him.

His subject on the first night will be "The Devil in Names."

Tickets good for either night at 35 cents of for both nights at 50 cents, are on sale at Martin & Wiley's, Tristram & Young's C. G. Wiant's and M. & J. E. Waddell's office.

Epworth Rally and Social.

There was a rally social at the Epworth M. E. church Friday evening. The affair was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society and was for the benefit of the society socially as well as financially. From 5 until 8 o'clock supper was served at 10 cents and after that the time was given up to pure social enjoyment. Reception committees received the visitors and the entire church was thrown open. It was an enjoyable occasion, and was largely attended, while the ladies netted a snug sum for the benefit of their cause.

EMPTY ARE THE KEGS

AT THE LIQUOR JOINT OF ROSEN. FELD BROTHERS.

They Had All Been Broached Before the Proprietors Left the City—Those Holding Claims Will Have Difficulty in Getting Enough Out of Remnants to Satisfy.

The fact that the Rosenfeld Brothers have quietly left the city was the cause of much talk Friday. This morning Constable Huggins and Mr. Wallace entered the place and took a sort of an inventory of the stock.

The fact of the matter is that they have been shipping goods to some other point. The barrels are nearly all empty and hardly any of them have a bit of whisky in them. The boxes are empty and only a few bottles of liquors and wine and a few cigars, with the furniture, are left.

There is a claim against the place by Mr. Wallace amounting to $110 and he has possession of it. Constable Huggins has a claim of $150 from a Dayton firm, and he levied on the stock this morning. It is not known what will be done with the goods as yet.

During the week the Rosenfelds shipped a portion of the stock to Kansas City and those in that neighborhood allege that they have shipped out several consignments of liquor to other places.

Julius was seen in Chicago one day this week and stated that he expected to go on west, and sent word to that effect to Ladsore, in this city. The claims against the place are not heavy, at they will amount to more than the remaining goods will invoice.

THE HOUSE WAS VACATED

And Spontaneous Combustion and Complete Destruction Followed.

Down on the farm of A. F. Goerlach, the market gardener, eight miles south of town, there formerly stood a good sized frame house which has been occupied almost continuously by tenants.

Some of these tenants may have been all right in every way, in fact all of them may have been good and honest people, but the farmers in that section of the country didn't think so and their impression to that effect was strengthened by the fact that these tenants "sowed not, neither did they spin," yet they always got along some way.

For some time it has been stated down in that neck of the woods that should that house become vacant it would not be long before it would go up toward the stars, and so when the tenants who have been in it for some time moved out Thursday morning, it was no wonder that the house went up in smoke Thursday night, and there isn't the slightest suspicion in that entire community but that it was a case of spontaneous combustion.

The loss will probably be a couple of hundred dollars to Mr. Goerlach.

SCANDAL IN HIGH LIFE.

All Rhode Island Agog Over the Colt Family Troubles.

LIFE UNDER ONE ROOF.

Peccant Domestic Arrangement of the Colts, James J. Van Allen Again Achieves Unenviable Notoriety—Historic Names in the Divorce Court.

Again is the social world of Newport shaken from center to circumference by a scandal in which certain of the leaders in the fashionable life of that favored spot are involved. As has already been published in the newspaper dispatches with a perfunctory detail that needs no repetition here, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Colt has sued for husband, Colonel Samuel P. Colt, for divorce and Colonel Colt retaliates by suing James J. Van Allen for $200,000 damages for alienating the affections of his wife. All Rhode Island is agog over the affair and fresh developments are followed with eager interest.

Colonel Colt is a member of a distinguished Connecticut family, and is the brother of Judge J. B. Colt of the United States circuit court.

COLONEL SAMUEL P. COLT.

States circuit court. He is well known as a lawyer and business man. He was for several years attorney general of Rhode Island, and he is president of the Industrial Trust company of Providence and of the National India Rubber company of Bristol.

Mrs. Colt is the daughter of Judge Bullock of Bristol. She is a social leader in her native city and is very attractive personally. Her marriage to Colonel Colt is said to have followed a romantic attachment, resulting from a runaway accident in which both their lives were endangered.

James J. Van Allen is a son in law of William Astor and is one of the richest men in Newport. He gained national notoriety when he was appointed minister to Italy by President Cleveland in September, 1895. The appointment was bitterly opposed and Van Allen resigned after the senate voted to confirm him.

Probably the strongest thing in all the legal tangle into which the married life of Colonel Colt and his wife has been snarled is the fact that both Mr. and Mrs. Colt are still living in the same house at Bristol.

Notwithstanding this apparent union, they are really not so much united as though Mrs. Colt was in Greenland and Colonel Colt in central Asia. While sleeping under the same roof they occupy different parts of the mansion. This they have done for many months.

In the center of this abode of marital division, when the main doorway is opened, a wide hall, marble floored, runs directly to the rear veranda. In the center of the hall is a circular staircase, reaching clear to the fourth story. It is of solid mahogany. By broad halls at each story the different rooms are reached, all of which are beautifully furnished with articles imported from abroad or which have been in the De Wolf or Colt family for at least a century, for both families are so fond of by descent.

By common consent Mrs. Colt occupies one wing of the house and Colonel Colt the other. The family servants consist of three maids, a cook, a butler and a coachman. The servants wait on their master or mistress as usual, and Colonel Colt goes out of the house and over to his two banks early each morning and later takes the early morning train to Providence, over the Warren and Bristol branch of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, to its offices in the Industrial building, where he has an office as its chief legal adviser and president. Colonel Colt usually returns to his home at 6 o'clock in the evening unless he passes the night in Providence.

Mrs. Colt also makes no effort to shut herself away from public gaze. She is a very pretty woman, with deep brown eyes and fair and a good deal of a playmate of the children, who are now in school. Her husband, on the other hand, is a very quiet man, who is not much of a playmate of the children, who are now in school. colored in his mother, went to St. Michael's Episcopal church in Bristol, and in the family pew. Hardly had they been seated when Colonel Colt, who had just come from his wife and her son sat at a far end of the church, and he was seen to be weeping.

It is understood that Mrs. Colt has, on advice of her lawyers, decided upon a strange mode of living as she has a power right in the house which she might exchange by allowing it to lapse under Rhode Island law, if she went to her father's home.

Colonel Colt is also said to have been advised by his attorney to remain in the house, even to the last, to prevent Mrs. Elizabeth Colt from the house, but also his share which can be in his father.

The absolute rule of the house itself is a historical one. President after president of the United States down to General Arthur, has visited it and has been grandly entertained in it and it has been the Vanderbilt's, Astor's and in fact nearly every socially prominent family in New England and the entire east within its walls.

WITCH DOCTORS OF HAWAII

They Are Still a Power Among the Superstitious Natives.

The native Hawaiians believe that nearly all forms of sickness and disease are caused by evil spirits, with whom communication can only be had through mediums of whom there are many schools, names.

First, Kahuia, known as medicine men who treat ordinary cases of sickness caused by the influence of tobacco or other evils.

Second, Nekehehe, or mediums, who are divided into four classes, but whose methods on the whole are practically the same.

Third, Kahuia, who are termed "medicine men" and are supposed to be able to cure all diseases, but are not much of a power in the eyes of the natives.

Fourth, Kahuia, the famous poison god, whose worship is of comparatively recent origin. According to the legend, one Kahuia, living on West Molokai, had a dream in which his father deity showed him a poison tree on Mauna Loa, and directed him to cut it down and make an idol of it, by means of which he could cause any one's death.

It is believed to be the only existing tree of its kind and to be the most powerful of the last portion of it mixed with any one's food or drink and accompanied by the proper incantations was sure to cause his death.

SERMONS BY MACHINE.

Funeral Services by Phonograph at Coney Island.

A TRULY PIOUS INSTRUMENT.

It Has Been Religiously Trained and Never Gives Vent to Irreverent Remarks or Ribald Songs—How an Ingenious Undertaker Buried the Fat Baby.

A funeral service by phonograph is in the opinion of Abe Stillwell, an undertaker, much more effective than that by word of mouth. He found that out when the "fat baby" died at Coney Island last summer, and he has had several other phonograph funerals since. He is not at all in favor of the phonograph, but he is getting along in years now he is as progressive a man as can be found. He takes up new ideas like a magnetized hammer does.

There was a phonograph in Abe Stillwell's house before the instrument had found its way to Coney Island, where it was used by Mrs. Stillwell, who is a serious case of life, and she would not let the phonograph which her husband brought home to use and is very old, hence it is that the phonograph which rests on the shelf in the parlor next to the album and the family history with the undertaker's picture in it has never said anything rebellious. The notes of such times as "Oh, Uncle John," "The Golden Rule" and "The Sidewalks of New York" have never been ground from the piano throat of its flaring trumpet.

"That phonograph," said Abe the other day, "is a truly pious instrument."

A CHILD'S ACCIDENT

WITH HIS CLOTHES ABLAZE HE RUNS FOR ASSISTANCE.

While at Play in the Woods the Little Fellow's Clothes Become Ignited.
Though Seriously Burned It is Expeced To Save His Life.

An accident occurred to the little son of a Mr. and Mrs. Irey, who reside about three miles southeast of Marion, on the mud pike, Friday afternoon. The little fellow was playing in the woods near his home where a fire had been built.
In playing with the flames his clothes caught fire and his pocket handkerchief was also ignited. He shoved the handkerchief down into his pocket and started for the house.

All this time his clothes were burning, and by the time that he had reached the house he was badly burned. His limbs and body were scorched. He was taken into the house, the flames extinguished and his burns dressed.

The boy must have run nearly an eighth of a mile with his clothes burning. His screams attracted William Eddleman, of this city, who was down in that section of the country. It is not thought that his burns will result fatally, but he is in a horrible condition and it will take some time before he completely recovers.

A LITTLE BOY INJURED.

George Clark Knocked Down by a Wagon and Run Over.

Little Georgia Clark, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Clark, of north State street, was seriously though not dangerously injured this morning.

The little boy was playing on State street near Farming when a rapidly moving spring wagon came along driven by a man whom no one seemed to know.
The driver of the wagon went to cross the street car track and in doing so the rear wheels of the wagon slid along the rail and striking the boy run over him, the wheel passing over his head and body lengthwise.

O A Busard happened to be passing along and recognizing the boy picked him up and carried him home, where he was cared for. It is not probable that anything serious will result from the accident, although he was badly bruised.

The Month of OCTOBER

In spite of the warm, unfavorable weather, was the best October for sales in the history of our business. Constant hustling, attention to the wants of customers, great assortments and the prices that please you are the factors that combine to make our business gain steadily month by month and year by year. We want November to add its share to the business advance. More customers are what we want. The sales in free will be a great drive in the black goods department as the material itself is worth $1.00 per yard, seven yards in pattern.

Every express train brings Wraps. We have always been favored with a very large trade in wraps but this season fairly eclipses our fondest hopes. We are in it, while others who make great claims are just holding on by the edges. Our wrap stock again takes the lead that it has held for four years. Our garments are superior in fit, fashion and finish. We show the popular rough effects in Jackets from $5.00 up, and Jackets lined throughout with silk at $10.00.

Don't miss our Special Dress Goods Sale for the first week of November.
